MEETS DEATH ON MOTORCYCLE

Ernest Hoyle, Soldier, Lowell, Mass., Thrown From Side Car

HIS SKULL IS CRUSHED

Vehicle Collides With Wagon Late Saturday Night While Enroute to Camp Humphreys.

Ernest Hoyle, thirty years old, unmarried, a soldier stationed at Camp A. A. Humphreys, Va., whose home was in Lowell, Mass., received injuries late last night by being thrown from a motorcycle which resulted in his death a short time afterward.

Hoyle was in the side car of the machine when it struck a wagon. Hoyle was thrown out and his skull fractured. The driver of the car also was thrown out and sustained slight injuries. Both men were rushed to the base hospital at Humphreys and Hoyle died half an hour afterward without regaining consciousness.

The men had been to Alexandria where they had spent several hours and were enroute to the camp at the time. Just what caused the accident is not known.

The body of Hoyle was brought here and taken to Demaine's mortuary chapel and will be shipped to Lowell, Mass., for burial.

MINISTREL

The committee in charge of the Minstrel troupe which will appear in this city on May 6-7, announce that it has secured the original Leonada Quartette composed of Messrs Phillips, Smith, Monroe and Falls.

This quartette has been together for twenty years. They, however, have been rehearsing for the past month and from all indications a treat will be offered the audience by these singers.

They will appear in an old time plantation scene, clog dancing and cake walking will also be introduced in this act.

Owing to this being Easter Monday, no rehearsal will be held tonight, the next rehearsal will be Wednesday night.

COLLAR BUTTON KILLS BOY

Seven-Year-Old Youth Swallows Object and Chokes to Death

Philadelphia, April 22.—While arraying himself in his Easter clothing preparatory to appearing at a celebration in the Sunday school of the Kensington Congregational Church yesterday, Leonard B. Marsden, 7 years old, swallowed a collar button and choked to death. The boy was to have taken a prominent part in the Easter exercise of the Sunday school where he was to have recited a poem, entitled "Our Boy Has Joined the Colors."

Agnes, his sister, 13 years old, found him lying on the floor of his room, groaning in agony. His parents, Thomas and Elizabeth, picked the boy up and ran two squares to Kensington avenue, where they boarded a trolley car and were rushed to the Episcopal Hospital. The boy died a few minutes after reaching the institution.

FIRST PAYMENT ON DEBT

More Than One Million Dollars Turned Over to Judge Rhea's Committee.

The first payment to Virginia of the so-called West Virginia debt, a subject of litigation between the two States for a number of years, was made Friday in Washington, when Treasurer W. S. Johnson and Attorney General England, of West Virginia, met the Debt Commission of this State, headed by Judge William F. Rhea, and turned over to it the sum of $1,070,622.55.

The money came in the form of 160 checks and warrants of the West Virginia treasurer and auditor, payable to this State through the Debt Commission. Judge Rhea indorsed the checks and deposited the money in the Riggs National Bank of Washington, there to remain until the Supreme Court of the United States decides what agency distributes the funds and to whom it shall go.

Motion will be made in the court on Monday to have receivers appointed to handle the debt money and to rule upon the question of Virginia's interest in the fund. The Debt Commission has acted officially upon all matters relating to the question during the years of litigation.

The money paid over represents the cash payment ordered by the West Virginia Legislature. In payment of the balance of the debt, amounting to approximately $13,500,000, bonds will be issued as of September 1, 1919. It is thought that, before the bonds are issued, the question of interest in the fund will have been settled.

PROSPEROUS YEAR

Rev. Dr. Allison Will Make Report on Second Presbyterian Church at Potomac Presbytery

This church has added quite a number of persons to its membership during the year. William A. Moore, jr., is treasurer and William Campbell, clerk of the session. D. R. Stansbury is chairman of the board of deacons.

William H. Melchoir has been re-elected superintendent of the main Sunday School and C. W. O'Meara of the Payne street chapel.

SEA PLANE SINKS

Machine, Evidently in Distress, Falls in Chesapeake Bay.

Cape Charles, Va., April 24.—A sea plane, which appeared to be of a small type, was seen at 7 yesterday evening coming toward the shore at Cape Charles. The machine, which evidently was in distress, came down to the surface of the Chesapeake, arose again then came to the top of the water once more. It fell the third time and then sank.

The machine ascended only a few feet each time above water. A small cloud of dark smoke was seen to trail the machine. It was about half a mile from shore when it disappeared from sight.

BOND DRIVE IN FULL SWING

Sale of Bonds Begin Today by Women Committee

SHOW PRICE OF PEACE

Capacity Crowds See Famous War Picture—Three Exhibits Given Yesterday.

"The Price of Peace" was shown in this city three times yesterday before large audiences. The picture was shown under the auspices of the local Victory Loan Committee.

The first performance was given at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the Richmond Theatre. Carroll Pierce presided and there was a short address by Sergt. Fred W. Carrington, of Richmond, who served overseas.

At 8 o'clock at night the picture was shown simultaneously in the Richmond and Ingomar Theatres.

At the Richmond Theatre H. B. F. MacFarland, former commissioner of the District of Columbia, delivered an address of a patriotic nature. He was introduced by Judge Samuel G. Brent. At the Ingomar Theatre Gardner L. Boothe presided and Sergt. Carrington delivered an address.

Today the work of selling the bonds was started in earnest. The women's committee was out at the banks and a number of stores and banks were sold in large numbers. About a dozen booths have been erected in the banks, stores and other public places.

The local committee feels satisfied with the splendid start made and members of the committee feel confident that Alexandria in this drive will "go over the top" as she has done in all previous drives.

Let Us Rejoice

General Pershing's staff reports officially that if the war had lasted six months longer—one hundred thousand more American soldiers would have been killed.

One hundred thousand of these boys that are coming back to us every day now, would have been dying in the mud of France—if the armistice had been signed last Thursday instead of last November.

Are we grateful to those who died? Are we grateful to those who were maimed for life in our fight?

Are we grateful to have so many boys back with us safe and sound? Is there enough gratitude in the world to express the thanksgiving in our hearts because victory came so soon?

The money that you are putting into the Victory Liberty Loan is the money that was spent to end the war six months—perhaps twelve months—sooner to save the lives of a hundred thousand or maybe four hundred thousand American boys; to bring your boy safe home—four hundred thousand saved from French mud.

Well—is he not worth it? Is not each one of that four hundred thousand worth it to his loved ones? Was it not cheap at that? Dollars can not measure the value of American life!

We have a lot to be thankful for—we might all have been wearing those little black arm-bands with the gold star.

Put your joy into action, not words. Help pay for your boy's life with a Victory Liberty Loan bond.

MANAGER RESPONSIBLE

For Workings of Government Under Commission Form

This plan of government provides for a single elective Board of Directors, which is called a Commission or Council. This Council or Commission receives nominal salaries, or none, and the members give only part of their time to municipal work, and are thus left free to continue their private careers without interruption. Their functions are to hire and supervise an appointive chief executive called City Manager, who holds office at their pleasure; also to pass ordinances and to contribute to the City Government the amateur and representative element.

If for instance, the City Manager proposes a public improvement, the Council will have the duty of examining the proposition, first as to its wisdom, and secondly as to whether it accords with public sentiment. If the decision is favorable to the improvement the City Council has the further responsibility of seeing that the City Manager is competent to handle the job, and that he does handle it properly.

It has already been conclusively shown, through these columns, that the Council Manager Plan is the most democratic form of government, and does away entirely with one man control.

If the Manager is to be held responsible for the success or failure of the City's business affairs, it is only right and fair that he should have the appointment of those under him who are to share his responsibilities.

This is a system based upon absolutely fixed responsibility, and it would not be practical to hold the Manager responsible for the acts of men not appointed by him.

The whole plan is founded on principles which provide a way to take the city's business out of politics.

It is well fixed in the public mind that practically all municipal shortcomings are due to cumbersome instruments of government and politics; (Continued on Page Five)

PRIMARY TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Candidate For Congress Will be Nominated From Eighth District

TWO CANDIDATES

Landslide For R. Walton Moore Predicted by His Friends—His Opponent is H. Earleton Hanes.

A democratic primary will be held tomorrow for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress from the eighth district to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Representative Charles C. Carlin. There are two candidates in the field, R. Walton Moore, a well known attorney of Fairfax and H. Earleton Hanes, also an attorney of Fairfax. Friends of Mr. Moore predict that he will have a walkover in the contest.

The campaign throughout has been characterized by apathy, there being little or no interest apparent.

The indications are that a light vote will be polled here and also throughout the entire eighth district.

The polls here will open at sunrise and close at sunset. The judges and clerks have already been named for this primary and practically everything is in readiness.

There has been no public speaking on the part of either of the candidates during the primary, there being no issues at stake.

When Representative Carlin first announced his intention of resigning a number of names were mentioned as possible successors to him. However, the race narrowed down to Messrs. Moore and Hanes. Mr. Hanes was candidate for Congress in the last primary against Mr. Carlin.

MURDERS AND SUICIDE

Laurel Tragedy Disclosed Easter Morning With Discovery of Bodies

Easter dawned upon Laurel, Md., yesterday with the entire community shocked by a brutal triple murder and suicide surrounded by gruesome details that are slowly unfolding.

Joseph Englehart died from a self inflicted bullet wound at the University Hospital, Baltimore, yesterday afternoon, and his death may seal forever the events leading up to the murder of Mrs. Annie Sloates, his sister; Thomas Smyth, a boarder in her home, and Mrs. Bradley Allen, wife of a prosperous farmer, who formerly employed the suicide.

The tragedy was disclosed early yesterday morning when Bradley Allen found the lifeless body of Mrs. Sloates and Smith, the boarder, in a cottage adjoining the old Oak Grove Hotel, two miles south of Laurel.

The remains of Mrs. Sloates were found crumpled on the doorsteps. (Continued on Page Six)

He is survived by the following children: Mrs. J. Harry Rice, Miss Nan R. Mayer and George A. Mayer. His funeral will take place tomorrow morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church and the body will be shipped to York, Pa., for burial.

TROOPS AWAIT RAID

Company is Sent to Virginia Town to Meet Morris Band

Charlottesville, Va., April 21.—A company of State troops left here yesterday to route Edgar Morris from his hiding place in the Wyatts Mountains.

Today troops were thrown about the courthouse at Standardsville as a protection against Morris, who has sent word from his hiding place that he will lead a band of his clansmen in an attack on the building if an attempt is made to indict him for the murder of Magistrate Bluford Sullivan.

Three weeks ago, Morris was brought into court charged with disturbing a church meeting and assaulting the rector. He was fined $20 and costs, and Sullivan protested against the leniency of the fine. Morris drew two pistols and fired, killing Sullivan instantly and wounding a witness. He then made his escape into a waiting automobile.

Morris' clansmen held off the crowd and then leaped into the automobile, which sped off toward the hills. Since then Morris has not been seen, despite the "man hunt" that has covered the country since.

All Greene County is on edge for the coming clash, for those who know Morris say he will attempt to carry out his threat to storm the little courthouse at Standardsville. Standardsville is fifteen miles from a railroad or telegraph station. About it is the wild and unsettled mountain country which only men like Morris, born and bred to the crags and gulleys, know.

Aided by his knowledge of the country, Morris has the loyal protection of his clansmen, for Morris is a member of one of the oldest mountain families in the country.

Magistrate Sullivan held office a Standardsville for years, and was one of the leading citizens of the little mountain community, not threatened with a bloody clan war fare.

County officials have asked Governor Davis to keep troops here until Morris can be captured and tried.

ENTIRE FAMILY WIPED OUT

Detroit Coroner Says Five Die From Intentional Poisoning.

Detroit, April 21.—Five persons comprising an entire family were found dead in their homes on the west side here Saturday morning apparently as the result of poisoning. The dead are James Deluvio, his wife, infant son, brother and aged father.

Evidence that the family had partaken of contaminated food was found in the house.

After an examination of the bodies and remnants of food left in the house, Coroner Morgan Parker expressed doubt that the deaths were accidental. "It looks like intentional poisoning," he said, "and I am going into it deeply. There are certain reasons why it could have been accidental."

The stomachs of the five children have been turned over to the county chemist's office for analysis.

FIND OIL ON LAND

Syndicate Makes Offer of $45,000 for Small Strip of Texas Soil.

Danville, April 21.—B. R. Massey a Danville volunteer who served seven months on the Mexican border with eighteen months' service in the European war, is counting himself a lucky soldier.

Before he re-enlisted with his old command, the local infantry company, he purchased a strip of land in Texas from an enterprising agent. He returned recently from France and was mustered out to learn that his land had been found to contain oil, and that a syndicate was willing to pay him $45,000 for the property. He accepted it, and he is now living with his parents at Loneoke, Ark.

Massey left here with Company M, First Virginia Infantry, for Camp McClellan, but was there transferred to a machine gun battalion, with which he fought through out the war.

CONDUCTOR SENDS $1100

Amount To Cover His Rakeoff in Nickels For A Year.

St. Louis, April 21.—The return of $1100 to the United Railways Company by a former conductor, who said he had stolen the amount in one year, was recently announced by officials of the Company. It is one of the largest conscience funds on record.

The former conductor first sent a check for $100 from a town in Iowa, with the explanation that it belonged to the Company. He signed his name and address and President McCulloch of the Company replied, banking and complimenting him.

A second letter inclosed a negotiable note for $1000. The conscience-stricken man said that the $1100 was stolen 5 cents at a time. He said he had bought a farm in Iowa and one in Oklahoma.

JOYOUS EASTER

The weather yesterday was ideal, and Easter was enjoyed by all classes. The churches, especially at the morning services, were well-filled, and the discourses of the ministers in the various churches, appropriate to the day, were greatly enjoyed. The Easter music was exhilarating. Conditions yesterday, compared with those of the Easter of 1918 were striking.

When Easter came in last year, on the last day of stormy March, the malevolent power which menaced the peace of the whole world was approaching the height of its final demonstration of ruthlessness. The last drive of the Huns was thundering at the gates of Arras, and the expressions of confidence among the retreating Allies were but a whistling to keep the courage up.

As an exchange says, "the position of those Easter days in the lunar calendar, even, was in keeping with the cold and gloom of the earthly fears that filled them. This year the festival, coming unusually late, was truly a feast of flowers and of light, for the earth rejoices in its new birth and the sky is warm with the genial sun. The weeks of agony and anxiety from Easter time of 1918 until the great light began to break in the late summer and early fall were one long Good Friday for the world. The resurrection and the life came yesterday. Jerusalem itself, the Holy City where the sublime drama commemorated yesterday was enacted, has been wrested from the infidel, and upon its white walls and shimmering towers surely the sun danced with joy yesterday. This was beyond question the most important Easter since the original day of the Resurrection."

PREPARING THEIR GARDENS

Many Alexandrians, having during the past year or two become interested in gardening, are preparing for the crop of 1919. The war garden, which came into vogue while the United States was at war with Germany and prices for vegetables were soaring, will be perpetuated by many who found themselves amply repaid for their outlay and labor. While many are using spades, some residents are having their back yards plowed this spring, and are preparing to engage more largely this season than last in the growth of vegetables.

Gardeners, however, have much with which to contend in caring for their plots. English sparrows are a menace to growing vegetables. Scarecrows have but little effect on them, as these creatures have lived so long in the city that they pay but little attention to human beings. They often refuse to get out of the way of live people, and treat human effigies with contempt.

Neighbors' chickens also afford a source of worry to numbers who take a pride in gardens. These creatures almost at the rising of the sun mount fences and take up their abode in adjoining yards where seed has been planted or where the young plants are appearing. They soon ruin a garden by scratching up every thing green.

Under an ordinance passed two years ago owners of chickens and other fowls in Richmond which depredate on the premises of neighbors are liable to a fine ranging from $1 to $10.

Before the passage of the ordinance referred to persons suffering from the visits of their neighbors' fowls had no redress except to resort to action for damages in the civil courts.

"DRUNKS" STILL IN EVIDENCE

Seven men, all white, were arrested yesterday by the police for being drunk on the streets. Many others, more or less intoxicated, did not fall into the hands of the officers. Judge Crutchfield in the Richmond Police Court recently announced that chronic "drunks" may be called upon to give security in future to observe the laws of the city and state.

A young man who often carries too long with the wine, was among those brought before the Police Court this morning. He has oft been there before, contributing almost weekly towards maintaining the general expenses of the city. The delinquent stood before the bar quivering from the effects of his debauch. A fine of $5 was imposed and he was told that he will be held until he furnishes security to observe all laws for a period of six months.

The sale of liquor in Alexandria, notwithstanding the prohibition law, shows no abatement. In fact there is reason to believe it is on the increase.

CHARLES' FATAL WEAKNESS

The former Emperor Charles, who wrote to "Brother Sixtus" in March, 1917, recognizing the right of France to Alsace-Lorraine, also wrote later to the then Crown Prince of Germany. Later than the letter to Sixtus Count Czernin wrote to the Emperor that Austria-Hungary had to have peace before the end of 1917. This was sent to Erzberger in Berlin who read it at a recent meeting of the Reichstag, as a result of which the so-called peace resolution of July 19 was adopted. Von Bethmann-Hollweg had just resigned; Michaelis was appointed just after. Foreign Governments paid no attention to the resolution because the Imperial Government never accepted it; Michaelis evaded acceptance or rejection. The Reichstag had no power to make peace.

In the following month, August 20, 1917, Emperor Charles made another effort to get peace, this time in a letter to the Crown Prince of Germany, which has just been printed. He said Bulgaria was about to drop out of the war, and "I have positive indication that we could win over an opponent if Germany would be willing to make certain territorial sacrifices in Alsace-Lorraine but I do not want Germany alone to make sacrifices. I will myself bear the lion's share in this direction." Then he referred significantly to the Austro-Hungarian concessions that were offered early in 1915 to keep Italy out of the war.

But the German Government would not seek peace. The Kaiser still hoped to conquer his enemies. Charles might have saved himself and his Empire if he had cut loose from Germany, but he had not the courage; he was afraid of the German army. In the early part of 1918 France made public the letter to Prince Sixtus. Instead of acknowledging it and seizing the opportunity to desert William II and throw himself upon the mercy of the Allies, Charles denied the letter and went to William II with protestations of his loyalty and entered into a military covenant with him which practically put the Austrian army at the command of the German General Staff.

And now Charles is a fugitive in Switzerland, and William is a fugitive in Holland. The golden moment for getting a peace by negotiation was thrown away. (Philadelphia Record.)

SEBASTOPOL HELD BY RUSS

Crimean Government Gives Up and Goes to Constantinople. London, April 21.—Sebastopol has been evacuated by the Crimean government, which is proceeding to Constantinople. The government of Sebastopol is now in the hands of the revolutionary committee.

This announcement is made in a Russian wireless dispatch, which adds that after negotiations with the allied command an agreement was reached for an eight days' armistice, expiring April 25.

As soon as children can understand we tell them the story of the Easter story. Why not pursue the same course and give the little ones the opportunity to hear the best music?

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

Official Citation

NEIBOUR, THOMAS O., (98595) Private, Co. M, 167th Infantry.

FOR conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against the enemy near Landres-et-St. Georges, France, 16 October, 1918.

When this objective had just been gained after bitter fighting, and the summit of that strong bulwark in the Kriemhilde Stellung was being organized, Private Neibour was sent out on patrol with his automatic rifle squad to enfilade enemy machine-gun nests. As he gained the ridge he set up his automatic rifle and was directly wounded in both legs by fire from a hostile machine gun. The advance wave of the enemy troops counter-attacking had about gained the ridge, and although practically cut off and surrounded, the remainder of his detachment being killed or wounded, this gallant soldier kept his automatic rifle in operation to such effect that by his own efforts and by fire from the skirmish line of his company, at least one hundred yards in his rear, the attack was checked. Four of the enemy attacked Private Neibour at close quarters. These he killed. Private Neibour captured eleven prisoners at the point of his pistol and, although painfully wounded, brought them back to our lines. The counter-attack in full force was arrested to a large extent by the single efforts of this soldier, whose heroic exploits took place against the skyline in full view of his entire battalion.

Home Address: J. C. Neibour, Father, Sugar City, Idaho.

THOMAS O. NEIBOUR

Alone, he fought and conquered.

TELEPHONE STRIKE
OFF IN NEW ENGLAND
Boston, April 21.—An agreement was reached yesterday evening, after an all day conference by which the four thousand striking operators of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will return to work tomorrow morning. Announcement of the reaching of the agreement was made last night by Assistant Postmaster General John C. Koons, who came here at the behest of Postmaster General Burleson to attempt to arrange an amicable agreement. The striking telephone girls, by the terms of the agreement, obtain an increase of $3 per week to $19 for class one operators, proportional increase for the less experienced and a base rate for beginners of $10 per week. The latter is an increase of $2 over the old rate.
Furthermore the women gained increases of from 50 to 62 cents a day for the 8,000 male employees of the telephone company who left their work in sympathy with them. The women insisted that they would not be a party to any agreement that did not provide for their male sympathizers.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets, while searching for a harmless, non-toxic and reliable remedy for chronic constipation and torpid liver.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.
No griping is the "honey" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cleanse the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.
Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

and the suggestion of a system of government which promises to eliminate that factor and substitute methods of business, readily commends itself to public favor.

So great is the dignity of business in America, and so universal the respect for the efficiency of the forms of organization that have built up big business in America, that the plan will have a strong appeal to those who are looking for substantial returns in community betterment.

Study the chart of the American Business Plan, and compare it with the Council Manager Plan. If you have a copy of the chart any member of the Citizens Committee will see that you get one.

Note the similarity of the plans: Stockholders are the tax-payers. Board of Directors is the Council. General Manager is the City Manager. Departments under the City Manager are organized and directed identically like they are under the General Manager of a private Corporation.

The Council-Manager Plan being founded on business principles, could exist by following business methods; it could not operate. If politics were considered. Progressive cities all over the country are adopting this system and deriving great benefits. It is at least worthy of the deep consideration and proper analysis.

This plan promises simplicity and business methods and contains many benefits for those who pay the expenses of operation of the City Government. Even the most violent opponents of this plan, admit that the city's financial affairs are in bad shape, and the present system has failed.

If Alexandria adopts this new plan, it will be because the citizens and tax-payers realize that the old system has failed, and that they believe that a system founded on ordinary, simple, everyday business principles will save money and give them fair returns for their investment in taxes.

The Citizens Committee has submitted this plan as a business plan, and is confident that in view of the plan being so simple, the voters and taxpayers will have no trouble analyzing the proposition, and expressing their decision at the polls, when the election is called.

If there are any details about this plan that you don't understand, send your questions to the Citizens Committee, who will be glad to furnish any information they have on the subject.

BOOTLEGGERS' GENIUS

Display Great Ingenuity Carrying On Forbidden Trade in Intoxicants

Inventive genius is being developed by industrious bootleggers which, if applied to legitimate purposes, might make the originators fortunes. A compilation of various means resorted to to evade the prohibition law has been made by the League of Indiana. A few of these makeshifts are recorded.

A Logansport baker by the name of Freese baked four loaves of bread in each of which was also baked an empty quart bottle. These loaves of bread were in Vienna style, the bottle being so inclosed in them as to allow enough to protrude that on the use of a funnel they might be filled with whisky. Freese went to Chicago, had these loaves of bread filled with whisky, came back to Logansport, and when he alighted was arrested by an officer. It is not explained how the detective discovered the trick.

A milk inspector in Menzie, Mich., recently made a peculiar find. A dairy auto got stalled on the road and the officer investigated. The 14 milk cans in the auto gave forth a strange gurgling sound. Inspection showed that each of these cans had a false bottom, the top being filled with milk and the bottom with whisky.

Give it in Time

Every mother knows that coughs and colds, neglected, may lead to the most dread diseases. Croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption often have their beginning in a slight cold.

The wise mother gives Roley's Honey and Tar at the first signs of a cough or cold. She knows it stops coughs quickly, puts a soothing, healing coating on an inflamed and tickling throat, and gives a feeling of warmth and comfort to the sufferer. "Roley's Honey and Tar" is the best cough and cold remedy I have ever used. When my little son has a cold or cough, I give him Roley's and it relieves him right away."

Sold Everywhere

108 gallons in all being found in the false compartments.

A Hammond (Ind.) tailor, it is said has devised a coat with 37 pockets capable of holding one pint of whisky each. An Evansville bootlegger was nabbed by the officials in Henderson, Ky., and it was discovered he had on one of these coats, each pocket filled with the booze.

Another camouflage for the concealing of booze resorted to by law violators is the baby cab. A police raid in a home where it was reasonably certain that illegal transactions were being carried on in South Bend revealed no booze. At length the officer found a baby cab with covering on heavy and covering the little one supposed to be sleeping inside so completely that he feared it would smother to death. Turning down a corner of the covering he found something unlooked for, jerked off the entire covering and discovered four quarts of whisky.

THEATRES

GRAND THEATRE

One of the gripping scenes in "A Nymph of the Foothills," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, which will be the attraction in the Grand Theatre tomorrow is where Ben Kirkland is on trial for his life in a wild mountain hamlet charged with slaying the father of Emmy Chaney, a beautiful but untutored daughter of the mountains, whom he married and carried away to his city home. Emmy had been coldly received by his parents and a former sweetheart of Ben's easily convinced her she was not married because she could show no marriage certificate.

There will also be a comedy.

RICHMOND—Marguerite Clark

One of the sprightliest and most up to date photoplays in which dainty Marguerite Clark has been seen for many months, "Let's Elope," which is on view at the Richmond Theatre today.

In this picture, Miss Clark is the bride of an author who, believing himself neglected, plans an elopement with highly interesting results. The production is far above the average and the supporting cast of unusual excellence.

INGOMAR—Pearl White

"Inside the Lines," the great spy play which stirred New York to a high pitch of patriotism and which ran a full season to crowded houses, will be shown at the Ingomar Theatre tonight.

This great play with Lewis S. Stone in the stellar role and Marguerite Clayton in support of the great star is sure to win your approval.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

with a bullet wound in her back. Smith's body was found inside the house. He had been shot through the heart, and a pipeful of tobacco and match in his hands indicated that death had taken him suddenly and unexpectedly.

The body of Mrs. Allen was found in the woods a half mile away, near a path between her residence and that of Mrs. Sloates.

She was lying on her left side, clothes smoothed down, and no marks of a scuffle, but with a bullet wound in her right ear.

Officials were last night trying to piece together conflicting details to determine the motive and the story of the tragedy. A coroner's jury will sit at Laurel at 8 p. m., to investigate the facts.

As near as can be approximated by Coroner T. M. Baldwin, the events leading up to the murders and suicide were these:

Englehart returned from Baltimore Saturday after a day of drinking and in an ugly mood. He quarreled at the supper table with Smyth and Mrs. Sloates.

A sudden impulse for homicide seized his drink-crazed mind. He killed Smyth where the latter sat,

Mrs. Sloates ran for the door. He shot her in her flight. Going out into the path nearby, he met Mrs. Allen on her way to the house of the murder. Fearing discovery, he also killed her.

Then the murderer took to the woods. He walked through them all night, at times seeing the searching parties in the bright moonlight through the trees.

With the coming of the day, the crime became too oppressive. He shot himself.

Women— your influence Sells Bonds

The success of a campaign of this kind is only partially achieved outside the home, for an hour of talking and lecturing won't sway a man as quickly as will one minute of his wife's persuasion.

You realize the importance of the bonds—the necessity for insuring peace—the value of the investment. Make him see it, too.
